A. & M. COLLEGE 1915-16 ATHLETICS

Three Strong Coaches to Direct
Short Sketches of Each.
Football Schedule.

Appointment of three men well known in athletic circles throughout the United States to direct athletic activities at the A. & M. College during the next scholastic year beginning in September, was made today by Dr. W. B. Bizzell, president of the college. The program for athletics for next year at A. & M. is the most ambitious ever adopted by a Southern institution and the three men who already are under contract for this work are leaders in collegiate athletics.

Here are the men appointed: W. L. Driver, coach at the University of Mississippi, All-Missouri Valley end and baseball man, assistant coach at Princeton, coach at Johns Hopkins and coach at the University of Pittsburgh, Pa., head football coach; D. V. Graves, Missouri All-State end and tackle, professional baseball man, head coach at the University of Alabama, assistant football coach, basketball coach and baseball coach. Driver will have charge of the track work.

All three men are graduates from the university which they attended, and in addition to their coaching experience have done work with boys' organizations.

Driver will report at College about August 15, while Harlan and Graves will arrive September 1. Harlan and Graves immediately will begin preparations for the year's football schedule. Captain Garrity of Corsicana has a line on a number of new men and training camp will be opened at College about September 12. Here is the schedule which the A. & M. men will face:

Austin College at College Station, October 1.

Trinity University, at College Station, October 8.

Texas Christian University, at Fort Worth, October 16.

Rolls School of Mines (St. Louis), at College Station, October 23.

Haskell Indians, at the Dallas Fair, October 31.

Rice Institute, at Houston, November 8.

Texas University (place and date to be determined).

Mississippi A. & M. College, at College Station, Thanksgiving.

"We are preparing next year at the A. & M. College what is undoubtedly the strongest physical department in the South," said President Bizzell in announcing the appointments. "This means that we realize the importance of athletics in college life and the development of the physical man along with the moral and intellectual man. Of course we want to be successful. I would like to see our teams win every contest, but they must be won in a fair and sportsman-like manner. The winning of the game is not the prime thing either. We want athletics at the college to benefit every boy enrolled, and our work will be organized so as to make every boy benefit from athletic games of some kind."

W. L. Driver, the general manager, also will be professor of physical hygiene, giving lectures to students on the care and development of their bodies. Driver will manage all teams, will coach the track team, and will have general direction over athletics. Driver is 30 years of age, weighs 167 pounds, is five feet eight inches in height. He graduated from the Pierce City (Mo.) high school, the Springfield Normal School and the University of Missouri, A. B. degree. He attended the summer school at Harvard, specializing in physical training work, and took special courses in medicine at the University of Missouri. He was a member of teams in all four sports at the University of Missouri and was All-Missouri Valley end in 1907-08. He was a member of the Harvard baseball team.

Following his graduation he became track coach in extension work and in charge of games for farm boys at Missouri University; was director of athletics at the Central High School, Kansas City, 1909-10; director of athletics handling all athletic instruction and assistant professor of physical education at Washburn College, Topeka, Kan., 1910-11; special playground visitor Buffalo, Detroit and Chicago in the summer of 1911; superintendent of summer camp for boys in the Ozarks, 1910 and 1914; superintendent of public playgrounds at Topeka, Kan., summer of 1912, and director of athletics and professor of physical education at the University of Mississippi, 1913, 1914 and 1915, in charge of all athletics.

Edwin H. W. Harlan, head football

GEO. A. ADAMS, Superintendent.

tackle in 1907 and 1908 and All-Missouri end in 1906. Following his graduation at Missouri he played professional baseball for five years. He as a coach at Black Military Academy in 1910-11, going there from the University of Idaho, where he was assistant coach. He was athletic director at the Normal School for Physical Education at Detroit, Mich., in 1911, and for the past four years has been professor of physical training and director of athletics at the University of Alabama. Graves has been especially successful with baseball.

All of the new coaches are clean, moral men. In accepting the positions tendered them they expressed great belief in the rapid future development of inter-collegiate activities in the Southwest, and said that Texas should take her place at the head of the procession.

The athletic teams at the college are in thorough accord with the policies of President Bizzell and a great year is predicted for 1915-16.
